NUMBER 162

If your vacation plans include the probability of a trip to Canada, perhaps you'd like to know that if you write the Canadian Travel Bureau, Ottawa, Canada, they'll send you a booklet about things to see under the maple leaf.

Henry Toedt calls our attention to a tourist convenience which has been overlooked—and probably will continue to be. A tourist with a trailer hauled up alongside Mr. Toedt the other day and inquired if there was any place to dump the refuse pails from the trailer. Then they wanted a place where they could use some stationary wash tubs and get water. Henry confesses he had trouble keeping a straight face.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perry, of Chowchilla, arrived Thursday to spend several days here. They had been up in the Clear Lake country, then over to Reno and around the lake (reporting a hailstorm Thursday) and then down to Placerville.

In the second trial of Mrs. Anna Baer, charged with killing a dog belonging to the Joseph Shepherd family, a jury in the court of Justice of the peace T. F. Lewis disagreed Thursday and the case was dismissed. In the first hearing the jury also failed to agree.

Thomas Flynn and Harry S. Brown drove to Camp Audrain Friday with three Boy Scouts who are enrolled from this county in the third period of the Scout camp there.

E. W. Zueger reports some interest is being shown in arranging for another course in first aid under Red Cross auspices, to be given in Placerville. Parties who will be interested in such a course are asked to communicate with Mr. Zueger.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson have moved to their new home in Bungalow Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Willard, of Placerville, and the latter's father, Rev. C. W. Null, are in the middle west on a trip combining business and pleasure. Rev. Null went east to attend a church conference at Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard went on to Flint, Michigan, to take delivery of a new Chevrolet coach. Their plans were to return to Chicago to meet Rev. Null, and then drive on to Marysville, Missouri. Mr. Null's old home, for a short visit, before driving westward. Grandma Null remained at her home at Healdsburg, taking care of the Willard baby.

4 POLLING PLACES FOR COUNTY GRAPE GROWERS PRORATE VOTE

Designation of polling places in El Dorado County, for the grape prorate election to be held July 29, was announced today by the Board of Supervisors.

As specified by the Board of Supervisors, polling places for El Dorado county are as follows:

Additional information concerning precincts, the area or district included in each, and qualification of voters can be obtained from the County Agricultural Commissioner, County Farm Advisor, County Farm Bureau or local banks.

Three Rescue Parties Seek Injured Climber, Companion On 10,000-Foot Peak

SALT LAKE CITY, (UP)—Three rescue parties reopened search at dawn today for two young mountain climbers, one of them seriously injured and badly in need of medical treatment, on the 10,000 foot summit of rugged Mt. Olympus, 12 miles southeast of here in the Wasatch range.

CHIEF JUSTICE LAUDS WARREN'S RECORD AS ATTORNEY

Chief Justice William H. Waste of the Supreme Court of California today issued a statement commending the record of Earl Warren, district attorney of Alameda county, who now seeks the republican, democratic and progressive nominations as Attorney General of California.

Justice Waste described Warren as "an eminently fair prosecutor," and added:

"His record as District Attorney of Alameda County for almost fourteen years is, in and of itself, a sufficient guarantee of his outstanding qualifications and unquestioned character which so eminently fit him for the higher office he now seeks. As a lawyer he has been sound and diligent in his practice. As an administrator he has been capable and cooperative, and he has ever been known as a fearless and efficient, yet eminently fair, prosecutor."

HUGHES, CREW GET BROADWAY SALUTE

New York Welcomes Airmen Who Landed Thursday To End Record Flight

By HARRY FERGUSON

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, (UP)—Howard Hughes and four men who helped him break the "round-the-world speed record" rolled up "Heroes Highway" today through the biggest and loudest demonstration New York has seen since Lindbergh came home 11 years ago.

The canyon of lower Broadway, through which Gertrude Ederle, Commander Richard E. Byrd and Lindbergh moved in triumph, swarmed with humanity. Sidewalks were five and six deep with people, uncounted thousands hung out of windows of towering office buildings and turned July into winter by showering down a white blizzard of ticker tape, torn telephone books and scraps of paper.

Three thousand police, one fifth of New York's entire force, patrolled the curbs and fought ceaselessly against the surge of uncounted thousands who tried to break through the lines and get to the automobile in which Hughes was riding. Flags spangled the line of march to city hall where Mayor Fiorello La Guardia waited to extend the city's official greetings, fireboats in the harbor set up a din with their whistles and Wall Street stopped watching the tickers long enough to prove again that hard boiled New York is a sentimental old softy deep down in its heart.

Drunk Driving Gives Woman 100-Day Term

Mrs. Barbara Martin, 31, identified as a Sacramento taxi-dancer, was jailed for 100 days on a bench warrant issued by Police Judge E. E. Creed on Thursday, following her asserted failure to pay a fine of $200 imposed by the court following her conviction on charges of drunken driving.

Mrs. Martin was arrested on May 22 and upon being found guilty made certain arrangements with the court for the payment of the fine. These, it is charged, were ignored by Mrs. Martin and the bench warrant was issued this week and she was arrested by Sacramento police.

Officer Marvin Killian and City Clerk Esther Mahler returned her to Placerville Thursday afternoon to begin a 100-day term as an alternative to the $200 fine.

Finland Also Considered As Japan Cancels Plans Owing To Chinese Campaign

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Los Angeles, scene of the 1932 Olympiad, offered today its facilities to the International Olympic Committee for the 1940 games abandoned by Japan.

Zach Farmer, managing director of the 1932 classic, said he believed "that Los Angeles is the only city which could possibly prepare to hold them at this time." He said adequate equipment and personnel are available and can be mustered rapidly.

TOKYO QUITS

TOKYO, (UP)—Japan officially gave up the 1940 international Olympic games today. The cabinet decided that the war in China had cost too much in men and money to permit expenditures for athletic events.

But the Olympics will be held in 1940 just the same.

It was quite likely that Finland, sponsor of many international athletic events in the last 20 years, would get them. Finland made a strong bid for the games after Berlin played host in 1936, but the Japanese—backed by Germany and Italy, her allies in anti-communism—won out.

ROOSEVELT SEES YOSEMITE PARK

President Lunches At Wawona, Stops On Return To Catch Glacier Point View

By FREDERICK A. STORM

United Press Staff Correspondent
YOSEMITE, (UP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States, became tourist for a day today.

After an easy overnight ride from San Francisco where the President received the greatest ovation of his transcontinental trip, where he made a plea for armaments reduction and where he reviewed the fleet, the presidential train arrived at El Portal, picturesque entrance to Yosemite National Park, at 8:40 a. m.

Several thousand vacationers, assembled to welcome the chief executive, cheered as he detrained.

After official greetings by Park Superintendent Lawrence Merriam and other park officials, the President and his party departed by automobile for a sightseeing tour of California's most famous scenic wonderland—a huge glacial gorge 4000 feet up in the Sierra.

The route took them up the south side of the Valley, past Sentinel Dome, the old Yosemite Indian village and Camp Curry, from where the President looked at Half Dome.

From there the motorcade went to Happy Isles and across the valley to Mirror Lake for a tour down the north side of Yosemite, past Royal Arches and Yosemite Falls, through Wawona tunnel to the Mariposa big trees, 25 miles from the floor of the valley.

After luncheon at Mariposa Big Trees Lodge, in the open, the President and his party retraced the same road as far as Chinquapin, then turned off on a branch to Glacier Point for a 100 mile panorama of the high Sierra.

The return trip through the valley to El Portal was expected to be completed by 6 p. m. Shortly afterward the presidential train will proceed back to main lines and head south for Los Angeles.

Westwood Mills Resume Work

Labor Groups Start Clamor To Avenge "Purge"; Charges Of "Vigilantism" Filed

WESTWOOD, (UP)—Labor groups today started a clamor to avenge the "purge" of 1000 CIO Lumber workers who were driven out of town for forcing the Red River Lumber Company plant to shut down in a strike over a 17 1/2 per cent pay reduction.

The lumber plant and box factory—largest in the west—resumed operations today and peace prevailed after the vicious street fighting of Wednesday in which one man was shot and 30 injured.

In San Francisco the northern California CIO director Louis Goldblatt filed charges of "vigilantism" against the lumber company with the national labor relations board and placed responsibility for the "purge" on the shoulders of the firm.

The refugees, scattered along the roads leading from this company owned town, walked and rode determinedly toward the state capital in Sacramento to protest en masse to Gov. Frank F. Merriam.

The candidates card party held at the community hall in Coloma last Saturday night, we will venture to say, was the largest one ever held in our county. Some thirty-six tables were played. The crowd was large and a good representation of candidates for office were present. The prizes awarded to the lucky winners, donated by the candidates, were in every way up to date. We would like to give the names of those who took home prizes but space and time does not permit it. As for refreshments, everybody had all the ice cream and cookies they could wish for and the large crowd had a swell evening.

As Mrs. Brame is gathering up old books and relics for her shop, Charlie Rasmussen presented the lady with an old record and day book of a store here in 1859 and 1861 which was owned and conducted by Robert Wood in early days in Uniontown.

Mr. Fleming was born at Deer Valley and had spent his life at his birth place and on his ranch in Green Valley only a few miles apart, and his final resting place is only about two hundred yards from where he was born. Mr. Fleming was a kind and faithful friend and neighbor and esteemed by all who knew him. Many friends and relatives journeyed from afar to pay their last tribute to him. We extend the sympathy of the community to his wife and children.

Today our hearts are saddened, As we bow our heads in prayer, And wish that we might barter With God for time to spare.

For death, the grim old reaper, Has come to us once more, And gathered a faithful friend To the "far and distant shore."

Don't say his chair is empty His spirit is here I know He's watching us as simply As just a month ago.

He would not have us weeping, Nor say that he is gone, But rather "death came leaping, And a true friend journeyed on."
